IS HOME A GOOD THING?

Ought the Bachelors and Spinsters to Remain as They Are?

It would not be absolutely within the bounds of truth to say that the first annual convention of the Associated Bachelors and Spinsters of Iowa, held at Forest City on Wednesday, was a complete success.

It might have been were it not for certain reasons. One of these was the all too apparent fact that many of the spinsters are young enough as yet to change their minds. Another was that several of the bachelors who are really old enough to know better, preferred to sit with the spinsters when they might have sat with each other.

Another reason was—that, while the delegates professed to regard singleness as an ideal state, they would not trust a bachelor with the nomination for the governorship. And still another was that while they refused to endorse the antirace suicide policy of the national administration, they adopted a platform which declares that good government is founded on the home.

Putting nothing else and confining ourselves strictly to the last-named proposition, let us ask what in the name of sense they mean by pretending to be opposed to the anti-race suicide policy of the national administration if they believe in the home?

What do they mean by home?
Do they mean a place where spinster lives downstairs and a bachelor has a hall bedroom upstairs, and where the only occupant is a cat? Or do they mean a place where, the spinster having at length yielded, no matter how reluctantly, to the personal entreaties of the bachelor, both live all over the house and in the course of time the patter of six, eight or ten pairs of little feet is heard on the landings and the merry noises produced by six, eight or ten pairs of little lungs resound merrily through the halls?

We do not intend to say what they mean. All we know is that they are inconsistent. We cannot have homes unless we go about making homes in the right way. Brick and mortar and wallpaper and furniture and whatnots and gas stoves and all that sort of thing do not make homes. A home is only a home in name that has not at some time or other had shoes, marbles, baseball bats, dolls, toy cannon, straw pants, topes, kites, chewing gum, stray dogs, safety pins and such like strewn over its floors—that has not had the prints of dirty hands on the windows—that has never echoed in the silent stretches of the night with the soft but steady tramp of the kind father as he soothed the pain in the interior department of his first-born.

If home is such a good thing—if the bachelors and spinsters of Iowa believe it to be the foundation of good government—then their duty is manifest. And from all accounts the convention at Forest City, though a failure in one respect, will eventually prove quite a success in another—Chicago Inter Ocean.

UNTERIFIED.

In the matter of coloring foodstuffs you should not consider the man who would eat a bottleful of catsup at a sitting. Counsel for the Wholesale Grocers to the Pure Food Commission.

A little catsup does for me;
I do not spread it on my bread.
And so, whatever the recipe, I like to have my catsup red.

On pickles no one makes a meal;
For pickles I am not so keen.
But when I reach for them I feel I'd like my gherkins vivid green.

String beans the same—a few will do (Or any other garden "sass"), And since I only eat a few,
I want 'em greener than the grass.

I do not spread my butter thick; It's always sparingly applied.
A little cannot make me sick,
And so I like it diamond-dyed.

One cocktail cherry at a go Is quite enough. I've always said.
Man wants few cherries here below, But wants those cherries richly red.

A little poison now and then (Especially when you go to blind) Is relieved by the best of men.
I like my foodstuffs aniline—Puck.

THINGS THEATRICAL.

"Ben-Hur" has entered upon its eighth season.

Francis Loece is in this season's "Mispah" company.

Alice Fischer's new play is "Honor Bright," by Grace Livingston Furniss.

Kate Condon is in Peter F. Dailley's "The Press Agent" company this season.

Sato, the celebrated Boston dancer, is a member of Bobby Manchester's company.

Philadelphia's latest theater, to cost about $350,000, will probably be called Adelphi.

Sandy Chapman has a prominent role in Nap Ward's new play, "Not Yet, but Soon."

Jessie Busley has signed with Liebler & Co. for a term of five years beginning with October.

"Mr. Hopkison," the clever English farce that had all New York laughing last year, will return to this country again this season.

Billy B. Van is starring again in "The New Grand Boy." In the company are Clem Boyer, Rose Beaumont and Florine Sweetman.

SHORT STORIES.

Last year 883 vessels were lost or condemned, 302 steamers and 581 sailing vessels.

Attempts are being made in Mangasser to make garments with a kind of spider web.

The land area of the United States is 3,600,947,390 acres. The area of Great Britain and Ireland is 77,871,319.

Within the three years dating from this November the Canadian government will have to pay off $150,000,000 maturing bonds.

It is estimated that the actual cost of keeping only a moderately expensive liner at sea is $2,800 a day, and this does not include the insurance.

valuable stallion raised by Charles Button on the west hill and signed by Morrill Prince, to Dewitt Remington of Providence, R. I.

Mr. H. Adams, Jr., was at Thomas W.
Smith's in Tunbridge Thursday to get his winter's supply of apples.

Ruby, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paul, was recently severely kicked in the face by a horse, and ten stitches were required to close the wounds.

NEW YORK CITY.

New York city requires 2,744 bakers to make its supply of daily bread.

Ellis Island, in New York bay, is the great gateway for aliens coming to America, and an average of 2,414 of them pass through it every day in the year.

Police of New York city arrest on an average ninety-five persons each month for the crime of burglary. There is no record of the burglaries for which there are no arrests.

New York, with the longest water line of any city on earth, has the unequivocal reputation of having the poorest, most out of repair, ragged, tumble-down and disreputable water front of them all. This condition is little varied excepting for a short distance at the Battery.—New York Herald.

"I find Cascarets so good that I would not be without them. I was troubled a great deal with torpid liver and headache. Now since taking
